Douglas Scientific Structured As Limited Liability Corporation

Alexandria, MN, January 29, 2010 – Douglas Machine Inc. board of directors announced the structuring of Douglas Scientific as a wholly owned limited liability corporation following its December board meeting. Douglas Scientific provides Array Tape™ for high throughput screening in bioscience laboratories around the world.

Douglas Scientific had previously operated as a division of Douglas Machine Inc. With the rapid acceptance of Array Tape™ automation in the biotech marketplace, the Douglas Machine board of directors moved to structure Douglas Scientific as a complete operating company in preparation for global scale and growth.

“Douglas Machine is a global leader in packaging equipment automation for many of the world’s largest consumer brand companies,” said Vern Anderson, Douglas Machine Inc. Chairman. “We’ve observed that Douglas Scientific offers the same global potential in the high throughput screening market. This structural decision prepares Douglas Scientific for a very bright future.”
